Georgetown College, D. C.

IN the year 1785, several gentlemen—the principal of whom was the Rev. JOHN CARROLL, afterwards the first Archbishop of Baltimore—formed the design of establishing “An Academy, at Georgetown, Potowmac river, Maryland.” In 1789 the first house was built; in 1792 the schools commenced, and in 1798 it was designated as “The College of Georgetown, Potomac River, State of Maryland.” In May, 1815, Congress raised it to the rank of an University.

In May, 1851, “The Medical Department of Georgetown College” was opened in Washington City, D. C.

The College is situated on the northern bank of the Potomac, and commands a full view of Georgetown, Washington, the Potomac, and a great part of the District of Columbia. Its situation is peculiarly healthy.

The academic year commences on the first Monday of September, and ends in the first week of July. The Collegiate Course, including the preparatory classes, which last three years, occupies seven years, unless the proficiency of the student authorize an abbreviation of the term.

Preparatory and Junior Department.

Experience having proved the necessity of separating the younger from the older students, a large building has been erected for the accommodation of the former.

Their dormitory, play-grounds, study-hall, class-rooms, &c., &c., are now entirely distinct, and officers are especially assigned to attend them in their pastimes, and preside over their studies; they will thus receive that more careful attention their tender age requires.

Course of Studies is as Follows:

FIRST CLASS.

Greek Grammar, Latin Grammar, Historia Sacra, Viri Romæ, Geography, English Grammar, History of the Bible, Latin and English Exercises, Arithmetic (Davies') and Writing.

SECOND CLASS.

FIRST TERM.—Cicero's Letters, Fables of Phædrus, Greek Grammar, Latin Grammar, English Grammar, Æsop's Fables, and Græca Minora, Geography of North America, History of the United States, Latin and Greek Exercises, Arithmetic (Davies') Writing and Book-keeping.

SECOND TERM.—Nepos' Lives, Ovid's Tristium, &c., &c.

THIRD CLASS.

FIRST TERM.—Cæsar, Ovid's Metamorphoses, Lucian's Dialogues, Anacreon, History of the Republics of Athens and Sparta, Greek Grammar, Latin Grammar, English Grammar, Latin, Greek and English Exercises, Geography of South America and Europe, Mythology.

SECOND TERM.—Curtius, Virgil's Eclogues, and Xenophon's Anabasis.

BOTH TERMS.—Algebra, (Davis' Bourdon.)

In the Senior Classes the Following Course is Pursued :

IN HUMANITIES.

FIRST TERM.—Sallust, Virgil's Georgics, Xenophon's Anabasis, Geography of Asia and Africa, History of Greece, Alvarez' Prosody, Scanning and Construction of Latin Verse, Latin Grammar, Greek Grammar, Rules for the Formation of Style, Exercises in Latin, Greek, and English.

SECOND TERM.—Cicero's Minor Works, Virgil's Æneid, Xenophon's Cyropædia, Theocritus.

IN POETRY.

FIRST TERM.—Livy, Horace's Art of Poetry and Odes, Herodotus, Homer's Iliad, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Gummere's Surveying.

SECOND TERM.—Cicero's Orations, Horace's Satires, Thucydides, Aristophanes and Homer's Iliad, Analytical Geometry.

BOTH TERMS.—Precepts of Rhetoric and Poetry, Greek Dialects and Prosody, History of Rome, Ancient Geography ; English, Latin and Greek Style, in prose and poetry, particularly attended to, and specimens from approved authors committed to memory.

IN RHETORIC.

SECOND TERM.—Cicero's Orations, Juvenal and Persius, Tacitus, Demosthenes, Sophocles, Calculus.

BOTH TERMS.—Precepts of Rhetoric, with criticisms on the most celebrated authors ; Quintilian's Institutions of Rhetoric ; Cicero's Rhetorical Works ; English History ; History of Latin, Greek and English Literature.

Greater attention, if possible, is paid to style in the three languages, and orations are composed. The students of this and of the graduating class attend lectures on the Philosophy of History.

IN PHILOSOPHY.

The students learn Logic, Metaphysics and Ethics. The lectures on these branches are delivered in Latin, a daily discussion (in Latin) is held on the lectures, and from time to time the students of this department have public exercises before the Faculty, to test their improvement. In Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, and Chemistry, the lectures are given in English.

The better to prepare the students of this class for their future career, it has been deemed advisable to diversify the regular discussions in Latin by the introduction of English dissertations on the various topics of Philosophy.

Students, who desire a fuller course, may, in a second year, apply themselves to the study of Natural Right, which, besides a more enlarged course of Ethics, will embrace the fundamental principles of Civil, Political and International Law, with a critical history of Philosophy. The study of Natural Philosophy will be continued.

LECTURES.

The students of the senior classes have the advantage of attending the lectures of the Smithsonian Institution, accompanied by one of their Professors. They may also enjoy, on days of recreation, the privilege of hearing the debates in Congress, or the pleadings of the Supreme Court, whenever the subjects under discussion may be interesting and instructive to youth.

The study of the French language is an essential part of the collegiate course. There are six Professors of French, among whom the students are divided according to proficiency, and instructed four hours every week. In the higher classes the students will be expected to converse in French.

The Italian, German, and Spanish Languages will be taught, if required; but together with Music, Drawing, Dancing, Fencing, and other similar accomplishments, will form additional charges.

When a scholar presents himself for admission into the College, he is examined by the Prefect of Studies, and placed in that class for which his prior attainments may have fitted him. He then passes on regularly through the Classical, French and Mathematical course, and thence to the end of Moral and Natural Philosophy.

The candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts must undergo a rigorous examination in Moral and Natural Philosophy, Astronomy and Chemistry, and must be well acquainted with the following branches, to wit: Latin, Greek, French and Mathematics. He is also required to write a speech or essay on a Literary, Scientific, or Moral subject, a copy of which must be left at the College. If he remain longer in College, and pursue the higher branches of Moral and Natural Philosophy, or if he graduate in any learned profession, after completing the above course of collegiate studies, he may receive the degree of Master of Arts.

There are two examinations in the year, the minor in February, the principal immediately before the Commencement, in July. At any time during the year, and particularly at the minor examination, if any one be found capable of passing to a higher class, he will be promoted, and such promotion will be equivalent to the honors of his former class.

No student is admitted who cannot read and write, and who has not a good moral character. It will be required of each one who may be admitted, to pursue the studies above mentioned, as experience has proved exemptions in this regard to have been a source of great inconvenience.

Any one coming from a different Institution will be required to produce a satisfactory recommendation from the Principal of such Institution.

The use of tobacco is prohibited to the students, and no one will be received who is unwilling to abide by the prohibition.

Besides the Literary Societies in the College, there are two Military Companies, the officers of which are elected from among the students. They are exercised every week, and have a full dress parade once a month. Their drill is Light Infantry, and their arms and accoutrements are furnished by the Government.

As the members of the College profess the Catholic religion, the exercises of religious worship are Catholic; but members of every other religious denomination are received, of whom it is required that they assist with propriety at the public duties of religion with their companions.

No student will be permitted to leave the College on visits of any length, except in times of vacation. If his parents or legal guardians live in the District, he will be allowed to visit them once a month, but not oftener, and he must then always return to College before night. Experience has proved that mere complimentary visits have given occasion to disorders. No student, therefore, will be allowed to visit any person, except his parents or legal guardians.

All letters to students, not known to be from parents, will be opened by an officer of the College.

REGULATIONS FOR DAY-SCHOLARS.

They will be admitted into the College Yard at 8 o'clock A. M., and 2 o'clock P. M.

The classes begin at  $8\frac{1}{4}$  A. M., and continue until  $11\frac{1}{4}$ . They are resumed at  $2\frac{1}{2}$ , and continue till 5 P. M.

Punctual attendance at these hours is required, and no one after absenting himself or coming too late, will be received without a note from his Parents or Guardian.

The day-scholars are forbidden to take out letters or perform errands for Boarders, without the previous knowledge and consent of the President of the College.

A high respect for religion and morality, as well as docility to Professors and Prefects, will be expected from all the day-scholars.

EXTRA CHARGES.

The Modern Language, viz : Spanish, Italian, and German, each.....	$40 00
Music, Drawing, Dancing, and Fencing at Professor's charges.
The mending of shoes, and every other article of clothing, except linen, forms also an extra charge.

All accounts must be paid half-yearly in advance. Students may enter at any time during the session. Should a student leave before the expiration of a quarter, no deduction will be made, except in cases of sickness or dismissal.

Whatever books or stationery may be required for the different classes, &c., may be procured by the parents or guardians themselves, or will be supplied by the College, at the most moderate charges. All books, of whatever kind, must be submitted to the supervision of the Prefect of Schools, without whose permission none will be allowed circulation in the College.

Every student must be provided with the uniform, namely: black frock coat or jacket; white pantaloons and vest in summer: black pantaloons and black vest in winter. All must be provided with at least two suits for daily wear, (for which no particular color is prescribed,) six shirts, six pairs of stockings, six pocket handkerchiefs, six towels, three pairs of shoes, a hat, and a cloak or great coat, with such under-clothes as each one has been accustomed to wear. Each student must also be provided with a silver table spoon and fork, which, if not brought, will be furnished by the College, and included in the Bill. If parents wish the College to supply their sons with clothing, a deposit is required equivalent to the probable expense of clothing for half a year. The word "Clothes" is understood to embrace hats, caps, shoes, &c. In future, these articles will not be furnished by the College unless a Deposit for this purpose be placed in the hands of the Treasurer, who will give a detailed account of its outlay in his regular semi-annual Statement.

No bill for clothing or other articles purchased by any student will be acknowledged, unless authorized by the parents or by the Directors of the College.

With regard to pocket-money, it is desired that little should be given. Whatever sum parents or guardians may choose to allow to their sons or wards, must be deposited in the hands of the Treasurer of the College, who will give it out to the students in such manner as he may judge the occasion to require. No advance will be made beyond the deposit.

Regular accounts of Board, Tuition, &c., will be sent half-yearly in advance. It is earnestly requested that immediate remittance be made to the full amount.

The College possesses a SELECT LIBRARY of thirty thousand volumes, amongst which there are many very curious and rare works.* There is a good Philosophical Apparatus for the use of the advanced students.

The MUSEUM contains an elegant and well arranged cabinet of Minerals; and many Geological Specimens, besides an extensive collection of Shells.

Attached to the College at the distance of about 400 yards, is an Astronomical OBSERVATORY, sixty-feet long and thirty feet wide, divided from east to west into three rooms. The eastern room contains a first-class Meridian-Circle, by Troughton & Simms, of London. The divided arc of the circle has a diameter of 45 inches, reading by microscopes to fractions of a second of arc. The Telescope has a 4-inch glass. A fine sidereal clock, by Molyneux, of London, accompanies this instrument. In the western room is mounted a fine Transit-Instrument, by Ertel & Son, of Munich. It is seven feet long, and has a  $4\frac{1}{2}$ -inch object-glass. There is in the same room a sidereal clock. The middle part of the Observatory is three stories high, and covered with a rotary dome. The dome room contains a well mounted Equatorial Telescope, made by Troughton & Simms. This instrument has a  $4\frac{8}{10}$  inch object-glass, giving powers from twenty-five to four hundred. Besides the above, there are five portable Astronomical Instruments, and a Library of five hundred choice works on Astronomy, Mathematics, and the Physical Sciences.

N. B. It is required that each student from a distance should have a guardian in the vicinity, who will make regular payments to the College, and receive him in case of dismissal.

The Session will commence on the 17th of October, with a general introductory Lecture by one of the Professors, and terminate in March following.

The regular Lectures commence the day after, and will be delivered in the College building, 303 F street, during the hours of the afternoon and evening. This time of lecturing has been customary in this department since its foundation, and found to be most acceptable to students in the District.

This district is rich in institutions, both of a general and special character, wherein Medical knowledge can be obtained, which, with the extensive public Libraries of the City of Washington, afford to the students opportunities not to be exceeded in other cities of the Union.

In the teaching of the Faculty great attention is bestowed on instruction in those departments of Medicine and Surgery which have especial relation to military or naval service.

During the Course, the Faculty hold weekly examinations in their several branches, in order to test the progress of the student.

Opportunities will be afforded for the prosecution of practical anatomy from October 3d, which will terminate on the last day of February. A special course on Analytical Chemistry, with instruction in detection of Poisons, and in Physiological Chemistry will be formed; those who attend will pay an extra charge of ten dollars. Lectures on Medical Jurisprudence will be given by the Professor of Materia Medica.

Regulations for the Degree of Doctor in Medicine.

1. The Candidate must be of good moral character, and not under 21 years of age.

2. He must have studied Medicine not less than three years; during which he shall have attended two full courses of instruction delivered in some regular and respectable Medical School. One of which shall have been in this institution.

3. He must have attended at least one course of Practical Anatomy, and one course of Chemical instruction, evidence of which will be submitted to the faculty.

4. He must pass a satisfactory examination and submit to the Faculty an acceptable Thesis on some subject connected with Medicine in his own handwriting.

The fees for the full Course of Lectures.....	$105 00
Matriculation fee (paid only once).....	5 00
Demonstrator's fee.....	10 00
Graduation fee.....	30 00

The fees must be paid promptly at the Commencement of the Session. Students are not compelled to take all the tickets during one Session. For each Course $15.

The expenses of living in Washington are as moderate as in other cities of the Union.

Lecture on the Phenomenon of Combustion,

BY

EDWARD S. REILY,

ASSISTED BY

THOMAS S. RUDD AND HENRY MAJOR, JR.

In this Lecture it is proposed to show—What Combustion is; what are its elements; and what are its results. A series of instructive and interesting experiments will illustrate the subject. Finally we come to consider the analogy between Respiration and Combustion, and the remarkable dependence which exists between the animal and vegetable kingdom.

Lecture on the Correlation of Physical Forces,

BY

R. ROSS PERRY,

ASSISTED BY

F. C. ZEGARRA AND JAMES P. McELROY.

The object of this Lecture is to prove the intimate relation existing between the forces of chemical affinity, Electricity, Light, Heat, and Magnetism. It is a subject belonging entirely to modern science. That this relation does exist will be proved by a number of attractive and brilliant experiments. A very powerful voltaic battery will be used for the production of the Electric Light.
